Dongguan 2026

What is FIBEGA?

FIBEGA (International Gastronomy Tourism Network) is a leading international platform dedicated to promoting gastronomy tourism, destinations, culinary culture, and the agri-food industry through congresses, awards, professional summits, and high-level networking events.

FIBEGA connects destinations, public institutions, companies, chefs, media outlets, and key opinion leaders from Europe, Asia, and Latin America. It positions gastronomy as a strategic driver for tourism, cultural, and economic development, while fostering international cooperation between source and host markets.

Why China?

China is currently the world's largest source market for gastronomy tourists. Today's Chinese travelers are increasingly seeking authentic culinary experiences, premium quality products, destinations with a strong gastronomic identity, and cultural offerings linked to food.

Hosting FIBEGA in Dongguan, located in the heart of Southern China, allows international destinations to position themselves directly within the Chinese market. It provides a unique opportunity to establish strategic partnerships with local operators, institutions, and companies, tapping into the vast potential of a key player in the present and future of global gastronomy tourism.

FIBEGA Awards 2026

The FIBEGA Awards 2026 recognize excellence, innovation, and leadership within the international gastronomy tourism sector. These awards honor destinations, institutions, companies, chefs, airlines, projects, and professionals who have made outstanding contributions to promoting gastronomy as a key element of tourism attraction and sustainable development.

These accolades have become a hallmark of prestige within FIBEGA, highlighting best practices, exemplary strategies, and success stories that inspire the industry and strengthen international cooperation between global markets.

FIBEGA Conference

FIBEGA Conference will bring together institutional leaders, destinations, international experts, and industry professionals to analyze global trends, strategies, and opportunities in gastronomy tourism, with a special focus on the connection between international markets and the Chinese market.

Destinations' Chefs Meeting and Experience

It will be a space for cultural and gastronomic exchange, where representative chefs from various regions will showcase the culinary identity of their territories. This event aims to foster international collaboration and position gastronomy as a unique, differentiating value for tourism.

Sponsors

Institutional support for FIBEGA 2026 is rooted in a vision of international cooperation aimed at promoting gastronomy tourism as a tool for sustainable development, intercultural dialogue, and regional visibility.

FIBEGA serves as a global platform that facilitates the exchange of best practices, capacity building, and the creation of strategic alliances between public administrations, institutions, and stakeholders within the tourism and agri-food sectors. Supporting this initiative means contributing to the appreciation of gastronomic diversity, the preservation of cultural heritage, and the responsible positioning of destinations within a global context.
